SaH Restorative Care Pathway

Helping You Regain Confidence After Illness or Injury
Offered through the Support at Home Program by Angels in Aprons

Recover at Home, with the Support You Deserve

We know that after a hospital stay or health scare, you might not feel quite like yourself — especially if you're eager to recover in the comfort and familiarity of your own home. That's where Angels in Aprons' Restorative Care Pathway can help.

Our friendly and professional team of nurses and Care Angels work together to support your recovery, helping you feel stronger, safer, and more confident every day.

What Is the Restorative Care Pathway?

The Restorative Care Pathway is part of the government's new Support at Home (SaH) program, designed to provide short-term, intensive support to help older people regain function, mobility, and independence. It replaces the current Short-Term Restorative Care (STRC) model and offers more time, more support, and more flexibility.

What's Included?

- Professional nursing services tailored to your health needs
- Care management and service coordination to simplify your recovery
- Goal-based allied health support (e.g., physio, OT, social work)
- Help with mobility, self-care, and daily living activities
- Assistive technology and home modifications, if needed

How It Works

- Standard funding: ~$6,000 for up to 12 weeks of support
- Extended funding: Up to $12,000
(if additional support is required - subject to reassessment)
- Extended duration: May be increased to 16 weeks in special cases (e.g. remote locations or cultural safety needs)
- Frequency: You may access two episodes per year, spaced across different quarters

Am I Eligible?

Yes — if you're an older person recovering from a health event and want to regain strength at home. You'll need an assessment through My Aged Care to access the program
